To set up a severity scale for the bladder outlet obstruction symptoms, the questionnaire "Subjective Importance of Symptoms" has been developed and evaluated. It consists of 23 items that describe symptoms that are seen as obstructive symptoms by the patients. Its correspondence with the symptom score (obstructive index) that has been developed previously and that calculates the obstruction at the orifice of the urethra is good. The questionnaire was used by the doctors and patients in the outpatient department of the urological clinic (University hospital Münster). Furthermore, the questionnaire was examined among patients with different complaints (n = 1690). Only 14 % of the patients
