What's New In PlainTextClipboard?

PlainTextClipboard is a useful application that allows users to remove the formatting of copied text in just three keystrokes. It will work with files saved in.txt format, will clear the formatting of the clipboard text, and it is available as a portable application, which makes it suitable for use in any environment. It will allow Windows users to maximize their productivity and enhance the performance of Windows based applications, thanks to its fast operation. PlainTextClipboard Review: Over the past few years there have been numerous applications developed that have promised to streamline and improve the productivity of Windows users. We have already seen a number of them, though most were just too complex to use and not user friendly enough to make them a success. So we decided to take a look at PlainTextClipboard, to see if it is any different. Much like other productivity applications that seem to simplify things for users, PlainTextClipboard is made to work with texts saved in plain text format (.txt). However, what sets it apart from the rest, is that it will also work with files in.doc,.docx and.xls formats, in addition to.txt. It is also available as a portable app, which will not require installation, and can be started by using a hotkey or even a desktop shortcut. As a fully functional text processing application, PlainTextClipboard will be able to clear the formatting of copied text. This can be verified by pasting the copied text into another document. However, if there is no text on the clipboard, the utility will not function. Users can configure its shortcut keys and hotkeys, or choose to use the default set. For those who prefer to remove the formatting of copied text using a simple setup, PlainTextClipboard will not disappoint. It can be run with a simple double click, or through a shortcut, Start menu entry or by using a predefined keyboard shortcut. It will show you the current clipboard text, and allow you to remove the formatting of the copied text with a few keystrokes. In order to view the formatting or of the selected text, users will need to select it and then choose text format. If that does not sound too complex, we should mention that PlainTextClipboard can also work with HTML text too. It will format and remove the formatting from it, and then make a cut paste of the plain HTML text into a word processor. Although it does have many advantages
